About the Lecturer

Dr. Consuelo Wilkins is the Executive Director of the Meharry-Vanderbilt Alliance, a strategic partnership between Meharry Medical College and Vanderbilt University Medical Center. The Alliance develops and supports collaborative initiatives and programs in biomedical research and clinical science training. Dr. Wilkins assumed this role on June 1, 2012 and leads the Alliance in expanding its community-engaged research initiatives while continuing to cultivate its existing programs. Dr. Wilkins holds appointments as Associate Professor of Medicine at both Vanderbilt University School of Medicine and Meharry Medical College. On June 1, 2013, she was appointed co-director of the Community-Engaged Research Core in the Vanderbilt Institute for Clinical and Translational Research.

Prior to her current position, Dr. Wilkins was an Associate Professor in the Department of Medicine, Division of Geriatrics and Nutritional Science, with secondary appointments in Psychiatry and Surgery (Public Health Sciences) at Washington University School of Medicine.
